REMARKS.—The old U. S. cent is fast passing away, as is the Indian of the forest. It is the only U. S. coin that follows in rotation from 1793, excepting only the year 1815, hence its value to the historian. Every gentleman should have a complete set, handsomely mounted on tablets, in his library or parlor. It is almost impossible to get a real handsome set at so late a day as this, the smelting furnace having molten them by the ton; but this sale gives the lost opportunity to correct so great an oversight.

Respectfully,

E. KING, Sen.,

Author of the Naval Songs of the South, &c., &c.
